1 Course Description

1.1 Course Objectives

This course examines social influence: how our political attitudes and actions are shaped by the people around us. To understand social influence on the topic of politics, much of the course material will cover social influence across a range of topics including emotions, economics, and intergroup relations. The material in the course is divided into three units, each culminating in a unit exam. The first unit emphasizes that people are bad at understanding the world because they do not understand social influence. The second unit covers a range of ways in which our attitudes and behavior are shaped by our social networks. The third unit focuses on the evolutionary and psychological reasons why we are so sensitive to social influence. Therefore, students who succeed in this class will be able to:

- identify and correct common mistakes people make when they fail to account for social influence
- understand when, how, and why their choices are influenced by others
- This improved understanding should help them take this social influence into account, allowing them to make better decisions throughout their lives.

1.2 Required Texts

1. Everything Is Obvious (Once You Know the Answer): How Common Sense Fails Us, by Duncan J. Watts, ISBN 978-0307951793.
2. Connected, by Nicholas A. Christakis and James H. Fowler, ISBN 978-0316036139.
3. Additional articles, available on Canvas, will be assigned throughout the semester.

Students should do the assigned readings before each class meeting. The instructor will discuss some of the more difficult material from the readings in lecture, but will not discuss all of the readings. Before the exams, students should be sure to understand the main argument expressed in each assigned reading as well as the evidence the author(s) present to support their argument.

2 Grades

Students' grades for the course depend on the scores they earn for three exams, fourteen online reading quizzes, three journal entries, and the Network Analysis Project. Details about each are below.

Students can calculate their cumulative Percentage using the following formula, expressing their scores in percentage points:

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Cumulative Percentage} = & \\ & .50 \times \text{Exam percentage} \\ & + .30 \times \text{Quiz percentage} \\ & + .10 \times \text{Bias Journal percentage} \\ & + .10 \times \text{Network Analysis Project percentage} \end{aligned}$$

At the end of the semester, the final letter grade will be assigned according to the standard table:

Cumulative Percentage	Grade
93-100%	A
90-92	A-
87-89	B+
83-86	B
80-82	B-
77-79	C+
73-76	C
70-72	C-

Cumulative Percentage	Grade
67-69	D+
63-66	D
60-62	D-
00-59	F

2.1 Components of the grade

Each assessment is described briefly below. I will provide students with additional guidance for each assessment in class and on Canvas.

Exams

The course features three exams. All three exams are take-home exams—they will be completed at a location of your choice and submitted on Canvas.

During the exams, students are allowed and encouraged to use their books and notes. Therefore, students should strive to take careful notes so they can easily find relevant material during the exams.

Students are not allowed to communicate with anyone about the exams while the exams are occurring.

Each exam will be written so it can be completed during a typical 75-minute class period. To provide greater flexibility in these uncertain times, I will give students additional time to complete them. Barring unforeseen changes to the schedule, the exams will be available at 7am and due before 11:59PM on the following dates:

Exam	Day	Date
Exam 1	TUE	September 27
Exam 2	THUR	October 27
Exam 3 (Final Exam)	TUE	December 6

WARNING: To take this class, you must be available at those times. If you will not be available during those times, you must contact the instructors during the first week of instruction to explain your situation and see if alternative arrangements are possible.

Quizzes

Quizzes encourage students to recall and recognize key concepts. Repeated recall and recognition help solidify information in long-term memory (<https://cft.vanderbilt.edu/guides-sub-pages/test-enhanced-learning-using-retrieval-practice-to-help-students-learn/>).

Quizzes will be due each Monday night by 11:59PM. Each quiz will focus mostly on material from the previous week's readings and class material. The quizzes will also occasionally include material covered earlier in the semester. Most quiz questions will be in the multiple-choice format, though some questions may use a different format such as short answers or matching.

I will drop your two lowest quiz scores and thus your final grade will be based on your 12 highest quiz scores.

Bias Journals

Throughout the semester, the course material will highlight several common biases or mistakes that people exhibit when they rely too heavily on “common sense.” Each student must write and submit three short papers, each describing a situation from their own lives in which they exhibited one of these biases.

Network Analysis Project

Over the course of a week, students will complete an analysis of their own real-world social networks, providing information about the people they interact with, how they met these acquaintances, and which of these acquaintances know each other. The instructor will aggregate these data and provide results to the class.

2.2 Tokens

The bar for success in this course is often high. And students will face many challenges outside of this class that will only make it more difficult to keep up. To ease students’ stress and increase the course’s flexibility, I use a token system that allows students to extend deadlines and revise assessments. Each student begins the course with three tokens.

Students can choose to exchange a token for any one of the following things:

- Extend any deadline by 24 hours.
- Revise a submission to an exam question or Bias Journal. You must use these tokens within one week of receiving the grade on the response you wish to revise.
- Retake a quiz. You must use these tokens within one week of receiving the grade on the quiz you wish to retake.

To use a token, complete a Token form on Canvas

(<https://canvas.fsu.edu/courses/215115/modules/718427>) (Canvas -> Token Module)

- Most questions about the syllabus, assignments, and course material should be posted to the course Q&A discussion thread (https://canvas.fsu.edu/courses/215115/discussion_topics/1578080) (Canvas -> Ask a Question).
- For short questions of a personal nature or for questions about the content of quiz or exam questions and answers, please contact Professor Pietryka directly via email at mpietryka@fsu.edu (<mailto:mpietryka@fsu.edu>).
- For questions that require a response of more than a few sentences, seek help in office hours.

How I will communicate with you

- When contacting individual students, I will reach out via Canvas Inbox or their @fsu.edu email.

- When contacting all students, I will use the Announcements feature of the course Canvas.
- To ensure you do not miss an announcement, you can receive email alerts or push notifications each time announcements are posted. To do so, you must configure your Canvas notification settings (<https://community.canvaslms.com/t5/Student-Guide/How-do-I-manage-notifications-for-a-single-course-as-a-student/ta-p/430>).

Student Responsibilities

- Students should log on to Canvas at least every other day to check for course updates.
- Students are expected to keep up with the class, engage with the course material, and submit assignments by the due dates.
- All work that students submit is expected to be products of the individual students per the FSU Academic Honor Policy (<http://registrar.fsu.edu/bulletin/undergraduate/information/integrity/>). Students should not discuss any of the questions with each other before or during the actual assignments, discussions, quizzes, or exams without instructor approval.
- To receive credit, students must follow the instructions carefully, follow word limits as instructed, and use correct spelling and grammar.
- For email, please respond to your instructor's messages within a 24-hour period on weekdays and 48-hour period on weekends.

Participation & Lateness Policy

If you think you cannot finish an assignment by the due date, please let me know via email. I will do my best to accommodate any reasonable needs, but only if you alert me to these needs before the class or due date (or, in extreme circumstances where communication is not feasible prior to the due date, as soon as feasible thereafter).

Excused absences include documented illness, deaths in the family and other documented crises, call to active military duty or jury duty, religious holy days, and official University activities. These absences will be accommodated in a way that does not arbitrarily penalize students who have a valid excuse. Consideration will also be given to students whose dependent children experience serious illness.

Grade Grievances

Each student is responsible for ensuring their gradebook is correct and up to date.

The instructor works to ensure that all grades are unbiased by grading with students names blinded where possible. Therefore, regrades are only allowed in cases of mistakes.

If you think you received an incorrect grade by mistake, please do the following:

1. Wait 24 hours after receiving the grade.
2. Email the instructor. In the email, respectfully explain why you believe the grade you received was a mistake. The email must make clear that you have read the feedback you received on the assignment.

Classroom Recording

In this class, consistent with state law and university policy, students are permitted to make recordings of class lectures for personal use only. As noted, sharing, posting, or publishing classroom recordings may subject you to honor code violations and legal penalties associated with theft of intellectual property and violations of other state law. Moreover, students and educators have expressed concern that recording classroom activities may negatively impact the learning experience for others, especially in classes that involve questions, discussion, or participation. To protect a learning environment in which everyone feels free to experiment with ideas, we ask you refrain from recording in ways that could make others feel reluctant to ask questions, explore new ideas, or otherwise participate in class. Students must monitor their recording so that they do not include participation by other students without permission. Students with disabilities will continue to have appropriate accommodations for recordings as established by the Office of Accessibility Services.

I will record each class meeting and post them to the course Canvas. These recordings are only for your own use and may not be shared with others. If at any point you share something in class that you wish to have edited out of the recording, please email me.

SYLLABUS CHANGE POLICY

Except for changes that substantially affect implementation of the evaluation (grading) statement, this syllabus is a guide for the course and is subject to change with advance notice.

PANDEMIC PROTOCOLS

The CDC recommends that all individuals, even vaccinated individuals, wear proper and well-fitting masks in public indoor spaces, like classrooms, especially where social distancing is not possible and virus rates are high. The CDC assesses the infection rate in Leon County as High.

As of August, Florida is experiencing a surge of the Omicron BA.5 variant, the most easily transmissible Covid variant to date, which is able to evade previous immunity from infection and vaccination. It is a much more transmissible variant than the original virus, the Delta variant, or even the earlier Omicron variants. It can infect even vaccinated individuals and can be spread by them to others. It poses a special threat to members of the community with underlying health conditions and family members vulnerable to the virus. The best way to protect against serious illness is to be fully vaccinated, but not everyone among us can be.

For these reasons, FSU expects each of us to continue cooperating with common-sense public health protocols, including (1) getting vaccinated and boosted, (2) testing for the virus if you have symptoms, (3) staying home and away from others if you are sick, and (4) masking in public indoor spaces to protect yourself and others whenever there is reason for concern. Please remember that you should NOT attend class if you have tested positive for Covid-19 or are in quarantine.
